

Assignment 6A Design Decisions

I added the Assignment 6A functionality specifically to the original cinnamon bun page.

Cart Page

For the shopping cart, I decided to divide the page into two with one column taking up 75% of the space where the cart items would be and the other column taking up the remaining 25% of the space where the total cost and checkout and continue shopping buttons would be. I decided to design it in this way so that users are able to see their total at all times and access their options to checkout or continue shopping easily.

New Features

I added a round badge in the top right corner of the page with the default number 0 that would dynamically change as items are added to the cart so that users are able to see immediate feedback from their actions and always be aware of how much they have added so far.

In the product details page, I also added a caption below the product image specifying the selected glazing so that users are aware of exactly what is currently selected before adding it to their cart. All options on the product detail can now also be modified (glazing flavor and quantity).
